CUSTOM FRAMING RECOMMENDATION

LAST UPDATED: 2021.10

Dear Art Collector,

Thank you so much for your business! While I can offer limited framing options there are professionals who can do so much more and so much better!

Below is a list of custom framers in and around Greater Philadelphia and nationally. PLEASE NOTE: These recommendations have been handed down to me from my own clients and their experiences: I have NOT personally used any of these custom framing options myself. If you have had a recent, quality experience with a framer that you would recommend please let me know! I update this list as recommendations come in.

Thank you!

Erica

Formerly Taws (Center City): Taws began in 1897 at 9th and Arch street as an art supply and photography needs store owned and operated by brothers John and Henry Taws. By 1931 they had outgrown their small location and moved to 1527 Walnut street. In 1971 the Leis Family acquired the business and transformed it into a hub for local artists featuring art supplies, graphic design, framing, and bookbinding. After one more move to 1530 Locust Street, Taws finally settled at our current location of 1703 Pine street to focus on our true passion; the art of bookbinding, framing, and repair of fine leather and wood goods large and small.
